

Brand New, Take Apart Your Head

goodbye to sex i wish i could say sorry to my ex take apart your head chew it up and swallow it goodbye to love

i have pushed you up right against the wall
take apart your head
chew it up and swallow it

where is it that you're running?
pretty soon you'll be back tonight you can't say the things that i'm feeling i'll never do anything right.

goodbye you liar its simple 'cause you don't owe up to anything, but you think you could inspire
take apart your head
take apart the demon that weighs heavy on your head

where is it that you're running?
pretty soon you'll be back tonight
you can't can't listen to your demons they'll never get anything right i'm on my own

i'll never get anything right
i'm on my own

please take me back to your bed i love you so much that it hurts my head i don't mind you under my skin let the bad parts in, the bad parts in when we were made we play the part life is a test where i get bad marks (i have no clue about this line) the storm is coming, the storm is coming in

where is it that you're running
pretty soon you'll be back tonight
you can't can't listen to your demons they'll never say anything right

i'm on my own
i'll never say anything right
i'm On My OWN

please take me back to your bed
i love you so much that it hurts my head
i don't mind you under my skin
let the bad parts in the bad parts in you're my favorite bird and when you sing i really do wish that you'd wear my ring no matter what they say i am still the king now the storm is coming the storm is coming in.