

Brettell, I Want To Learn A Thing (Part2)

we try to be one time
every Friday afternoon.
jus before we Derek,
having Lee giving the answers.
we always dread the time.
we have Robin on Mondays,
sitting at the back of class, waiting.
once the lesson starts to beigin, we can't stop laughing.

we're starting to laugh so much,
we're starting to cry so to much in Robin Stone's lesson can't belive this is Marketing.
and then when he tries to teach,
we don't really want to listen cause we seem to be laughin to much.

its been two months now and Robin is still drinkin.
drinking loads of pints of Bitter,
and taking some Vodka shots.
'and when he comes to class,
he can barely walk straight'
he has become so drunk that he cannot teach the class, forever and ever and...

...once again he came to class even drunker than once before this is Marketing
and we're having so much fun.
and even when we tried to learn Robin Stone was at the pub, drinkin loads of booze so we would have a fun lesson.

we like to miss Mondays lesson,
but Fridays we don't.
'Moday mornin' are so borin, whilst Fridays are not.'
we have exam's so soon,
it doesn't look to good for us.
we don't really care, as long as Robin drinks. yea yea yea yea.
