

Brian Jonestown Massacre, Super-Sonic

this song is about you and my life now without you and my reasons just for living and forgiving being known all alone

if you do it well you better do it right if you're screwed up well you better screw it tight it's the way that you're living i'm forgetting what i know and i know

do you have what you want?
no, you don't you can do what you want but you won't how can you live with yourself now that you're all alone?

when you stare at your face in the glass when you're driving in your car and you crash do you know where you're going when it's over and done?

(i dedicate this cord to...)