Brian May, Why Dont We Try Again

(Brian May)

After the storm there's the dead of night It seems there's no way back for me So little comfort in my lonely bed To know That it had to be

And now I miss you in so many ways You know I miss you for so many Lonely days Oh! Why don't we try again

In the dark there's a desert flower It blooms where no-one ever sees Our love was stronger than history Our love will never cease to be How can I live with you-as-a memory You hold The best part of me - oh -

And now I miss you in so many ways You know I miss you for so many Lonely days Oh! Why don't we try again

No use me waiting by the telephone You're gone -It ain't gonna ring

And now I miss you in so many ways You know I miss you for so many Lonely lonely days and nights I know you miss me for so many Lonely days Oh! Why don't we try again Oh! Why don't we try again!