

Bride, Only Hurts When I Laugh

My mind works all the time is that why your afraid of me
Or is it my tattoo's you can't help but to see
They say that I am complex Don't believe everything I read
And sometimes it is hard to explain all that I have seen

I don't smile for pictures, my success is overdone
God watches over me I am the fortunate one
Give me wings of angels Rise above self righteousness
There is only so much of this world my soul can digest

Chorus

It only hurts when I laugh

You can look a man dead in the eye
See deep within his soul
You can walk a mile in his shoes
And never know all he knows

Verse

My songs aren't always perfect cause the truth it sometimes hurts And even though it is painful, yo
