

Brodequin, Lake of the Dead

Searched for the devils mark cord wrenched around the head chained to the wall of the cell witches bridle forced inside, prevented from rest a bodkin inserted hung up by the thumbs burned between the toes asked of conspirators judgement passed down taken to the waters edge priests prepare a lost soul on a quest to cleanse the land left foot fastened to the right hand strung between the shore and boat swung and pelted with stones introduced to the lake a guilty witch to float retrieved and quickly hanged an innocent is sure to sink and cleared of past mistakes, church officials watch for an sign of pain to prove guilt, murdering allowed by their lord