

Brodie, Quarter-Life Crisis

Another day, I feel like I'm alone again.
I didn't think that growing up meant
giving up all my friends,
Will this ever end?
My life's lost its fun
And I just turned 21

Things are not okay.
Feel this every day.
Colors fade away.
Everything has turned to grey.
Into a slump.

Well, I guess
This is what they call
A quarter-life crisis.

Another night,
This depression sets in again.
I'll try to fix this problem
I face with a bottle of gin,
A couple aspirin.
My childhood is over,
Can't bear to be sober.

Things are not alright.
Feel this every night.
Just can't see the light.
Futures not looking so bright
Into a slump.

Well I guess
This is what they call
A quarter-life crisis.
A quarter-life crisis.

Things are not ok,
feel this everyday.
Things are not ok,
feel this everyday.
Things are not ok.

Oh..Well I guess
This is what they call
A quarter-life crisis.
Said goodbye
To all my highschool friends
And pray to god
This isn't how life really is.
