

Brodiepunk, Letting Go

You call my name but I can't hear
I tuned you out a while ago
It wasn't easy but now I'm free
And you can't hurt me anymore

Well I can't say I haven't thought it over
The thought has surely crossed my mind
But us together will only hurt me
And without you I'm just fine

We had some good times and we had bad times
Until you decided to cheat on me
I thought you loved me, I thought you cared
But you were only pretending

Well I can't say I haven't thought it over
The thought has surely crossed my mind
But us together will only hurt me
And without you I'm just fine

Sometimes in life you've got to know when to let go
And when you do you'll find that you are going to know

That it's ok to think it over
There is nothing wrong with that
But when your done just you remember
Don't ever go back

You call my name but I can't hear
I tuned you out a while ago
It wasn't easy but now I'm free
And you can't hurt me any, hurt me any, hurt me anymore
