

Broken Social Scene, Looks Just Like The Sun

Looks just like the sun
Looks just like it
Looks just like the sun
Looks just like it
But it looks just like the sun
Looks just like it
But I'm breathing, thinking one...

Heart is pounding in his chest
Reaches suddenly for his gun
Should be sailing in the west
Flower that could be his fun

Tree of families on his head
Weary red, split open eyes
I'm on the corner, thinking 'bout my bed
Ain't just in store and signifies

Looks just like
And it looks just like it
Looks just like the sun
Looks just like it
Looks just like the sun
And it looks just like it
But I'm breathing, thinking one...

Gold and red the colors change as you can't forget
Turning back, you know I thought I knew, thought I knew someone
You better check your watch
I think it's time you left

To he, darkness - still it's obvious to everyone
Darkness, still - it's obvious to everyone
Still it's obvious to every

Well it looks just like
Looks just like it
Looks just like the sun
Looks just like it
Looks just like the sun
Looks just like it

Looks just like the sun