

Broken Social Scene, Stars And Sons

Then when you let it
You asked for nothing
Why don't you share it
All of the time you live
There's something out there

This one will know, how far to live on
This one will ever know in this town
And in the red room
At a distance

How would you know it
You're the same when you're living
I don't know it
It won't be this

This one will know, how far to live on
This one will know, how far to live on

All of the time you wait, there's someone out there
And no one can find all the red

How would you show it
You can see through the red
I don't know it
It won't be this time

This one will know, how far to live on
This one will know, how far to live on
