

Buck, All About You

Another day another failed romance

Another dream another kick in the pants well I know this is one love that's not coming true and baby

You say the world's been against you right from the start / well maybe you should take a good look
Poor little sad sack, you haven't got a clue and baby it's all about you

All about you, no more lying

All about you, no more crying

All about you if it's the last thing you do

All about you, save your kissing

All about you, one thing's missing and that's me 'cause it's all about you

I'll leave you to wallow in your sweet misery

You know a life of

Paranoia just ain't for me

I'm on to bluer skies, I'll find someone

New and baby there'll be no more you