

Buck, Cautious

I know what you've been hoping for
I hear you right outside my door
I won't be falling anymore..for you

I see what you been living for
Just like a million times before
I won't be falling this time..for sure

I know why you've been coming here
It's been another lonely year
I never needed anything..from you!

I saw us wind up happily
Then fall away
Another dimming empty sky
For you and i

Take a stroll around to make me sick
Just another semi-cautious trick
Picked up my nietzsche radio - turn it up and here we go again

It's the simpliest of rules
Takes a sentimental fool for this to sink

You fell apart but she fell first
That's when the pictures look their worst
I never seem to find the time, but there she goes again

I saw us wind up happily
Then fall away
Another dimming empty sky
For you and i
