

Buck Owens, Don't Let True Love Slip Away

Who's gonna love you after I've gone away
Who's gonna kiss the lips that I kissed today
Who's gonna hold you when you're old and gray
Oh, don't let true love slip away.

For once in a lifetime true love comes along
And hold it gently, don't let it go wrong
Treat it with kindness or soon it will fade
Oh, don't let true love slip away.

For true love is something that money can't buy
So don't take it lightly, true love's the stuff of life
You'll travel forever down life's lost highway
If you let true love slip away
So don't let true love slip away...
