

Burning Airlines, A Song With No Words

here are some words will you take them away? some better ways for what they mean to say
puzzles and rhymes
geography and time
or a kiss, like praying

we know, unknowing,
to let nobody in this armor
the thinnest skin
i only want to breathe you in mediated by electricity year and a day, all curiosity touch and defy impossibility is one thing in this world sane?

we know, unknowing,
to let nobody in this armor
the thinnest skin
but i will know you reveal and revel in, i f i can only begin will i breathe, will i breathe you in?

i celebrate blue eyes that blaze new sun from your city of rain no dawn ever brought me so awake let this begin

will i breathe will i breathe you in?