

By A Thread, Surface

I watch the surface bleed as your eyes come up wide
And the pain is taken away
I'm caught up in silence as hold my thoughts only to destroy myself
Something came between us
A simple way to catch myself but it's all in your words
Something came between us and I'll be there for you
As I walk symptoms take their toll and I'll never heal again