

By Heart, When You're Beautiful

When I say that I am weak you're smiling back at me
And every time I sink to deep you're stronger than I'll ever be
How hard it is to see you
I fear you when you're beautiful

You're the other half of what I am and want to be You're a mountain, I'm a tree, what else should I try to be?
And every time I see you
You hurt me when you're beautiful

I see you smile, you always seem to shine
Despite your lack of love
It's all inside; it's all inside you now
You're nothing but a clown

When I say that I am ill you're moving easily
You believe in anything from Jimmie Dean to Steve McQueen
And every time I meet you
I hate it when you're beautiful

I see you smile, you always seem to shine
Despite your lack of love
It's all inside; it's all inside you now
You're nothing but a clown

I trip and fall while you are standing tall
(You are standing tall)
I trip and fall, I want to leave

I see you smile, you always seem to shine
Despite your lack of love
It's all inside; it's all inside you now
You're nothing but a clown