

Cadaveres De Tortugas, Unsaid

Once we'll meet in a dark-cold room
Where the walls are bloody red
Once I'll be as strong as you
You will feel my breath of death

You'll know my name from a place
You'll remember my face no more
I will ask you something, God
What you'll never let me know

Something
I wanted something more
Anything
I'm so scarred alone

I take from you something and give you
What you'd never ask for
I show you the way you respected
The true faith I was living for

When the pain bites in your body
Than I will laugh, because
You won't believe but I hate you
For this decision of yours
