Calla, Initiate

It's too late to try and take it back now String me up and hang me upside down How long before my head hits the ground? This ain't easy for me

It's further from the truth, it may seem I lied because I want you to believe me I know I've got it coming, wait and see

Tell me, that's not how it's supposed to be It's the last time I'll be on my knees That's not how it's supposed to be

So sad, yeah, I ain't got much to show How long before they start throwing stones? Watch me as I'm pelted to the bone And make a song for me