

Cam Hodges, Close

I grow cold in the night
My fire's been right
I know there'll be a day
When your world won't seem so easy

Driving home in the dark
This life's been so hard
I know there'll be a day
When breathing won't be so easy

You gotta find your own parade
You've gotta find your own way
As I go to sleep
And you lose a friend

We go cold in the day
Slow down you say
I know there'll be a time
When our world won't seem so easy
You turn around and haunt me
You turn around and chase me
You turn around and love me
You turn around and fool me
You turn around you lose me
As I got to sleep
And you lose a friend

I know it all seems pretty hard
But that's the way it tends to be
When you're standing on the edge screaming hang on
As I go to sleep
And you lose a friend
