

Camila Cabello, What Do I Know About Love?

What Do I Know About Love?

nothing!

where does the loves go when it's toun out?

when does it leave?

why does it die?

do you kill it in one violet blow?

or is it a million unattended unhealed cuts and scratches?

what do I know about it?

everything

it creeps into my chest

uninvited and untamable

I know love has no mercy on anyone rich, poor, independent codependent, confident, unsecure

It will bring you to your knees if you did it right what I know for sure about love is that you never come out of it the same the other person is a chemical and I am a chemical and we both will come our as different people than when we met

I know when you're in love kissing is everything because words aren't the only way to tell someone how you feel

I know whne you fall in love you feel like you're the first and only 2 people in the world every kiss, every touch, every caress is like something you feel nobody has ever felt before and you think

"has everybody that's fallen In love before just..

walked around this nonchalantly the whole time?

you're at a restaurant wth your friends and you feel it

the secret under the tongue burning like fire, but sweet and it creeps up to your chees and makes you smile
