

Camper Van Beethoven, Love The Witch

World turns around again and I can see her face in my mind and I can almost hear her laugh at me, at all the things I've said and

Done and all the various mistakes
I've made, and all the stupid lies
We lived, although I knew
She was the witch and so I knew she might fool me, she is Powerful, you might not even know what she is Visible, you might see what you want anyway
Mystical, you will want to really know her well

She's real but what's real you might not see
If you see what you make of her she's loving too
Love is real, but you watch out lest you
Love love, your love for her, she loves you

And I almost feel for you
I almost fell just like you
And I could just warn you
I almost fell forever from her spell
She's right, she always is, you love her.

World turns around again and I
Can see you smiling now content
You think you have it all and Life will go on nicely until you realise you love the witch
You'll realise you love her

She loves you so differently
She loves you really
You love the witch
You love the witch