A Good Horse

it takes no match to give me a spark now i'm trying out another heart i've been whining about a fresh start i've found myself a good horse i've spurred it over quicksand and i rode it through the hollow land and i fed it with a shaky hand i've found myself a strong horse these are the promises i can keep

these are the promises i can keep
to live like i must
and ride with the dust in my face in grace

yes i've found myself a strong horse but things remain no different than before

in grace
