

Casting Pearls, Focus

How suddenly we move from life to death
In a moment move from full to nothing left
Unshakeable faith how quickly turns to fear
Went from holding you close to wishing You were here
What I cannot do is give it all to You
It's taking over me
Will this sorrow ever leave
No one but You can understand what I'm feeling inside
Right now I can barely breathe let me know You're here tonight
Lately I've been letting go of hope
Caught between life and love what I want and what I know
Give this broken heart a reason why and fill it with the strength to say goodbye
Cause it's so hard to do to give this all to You
Pour down on me like rain and fill this hollow heart again
No one but You can understand what I'm feeling tonight
Lord right now I can barely see through the tears that fall from my eyes
It's so hard to see You please come into focus
I don't even know if I can find the strength to make it one more day
So pour down on me like rain and fill this hollow heart again
No one but You can understand what I'm feeling tonight
Here I come running back to the arms
You've left open wide
Just when I need You
You come into focus
You let me see Your face
Know You're here in this place and kiss these tears away