

Cat Stevens, Moonstone

Well, first I have to tell you that I'm not insane and that once I was a famous archaeologist {named} {who ran} a recent expedition in a distant land
I just happened to passin' my hand in the sand and then I stopped, looked, and then I was hooked

I saw a flash, then a sparkle from a moonstone then the mist started, started to clear I saw a face, a face in the moonstone then it started to disappear well, I walked and walked and never talked for many days

and without a friend the desert is a lonely place I was just about to turn around and make way home when something told me that i had to see it again

Avuray....etc.