CATS, Skimbleshanks, The Railway Cat

Skimbleshanks the railway cat The cat of the railway train There's a whisper down the line at eleven thirty-nine When the Night Mail's ready to depart Saying, "Skimble, where is Skimble? Has he gone to hunt the thimble? We must find him or the train can't start" All the guards and all the porters And the station master's daughters Would be searchin' high and low Saying, "Skimble, where is Skimble? For unless he's very nimble Then the Night Mail just can't go" At eleven forty-two with the signal overdue And the passengers all frantic to a man That's when I would appear and I'd saunter to the rear I'd been busy in the luggage van Then he gave one flash of his glass-green eyes And the signal went 'All clear' They'd be off at last for the northern part of the Northern Hemisphere Skimbleshanks, the railway cat The cat of the railway train You might say that by and large It was me who was in charge Of the Sleeping Car Express From the driver and the guards To the bagmen playing cards I would supervise them all, more or less Down the corridor he paces and examines all the faces Of the travelers in the first and the third He establishes control by a regular patrol And he'd know at once if anything occurred He would watch you without winking And he saw what you were thinking And it's certain that he didn't approve Of hilarity and riot so that folk were very quiet When Skimble was about and on the move You could play no pranks with Skimbleshanks He's a cat that couldn't be ignored So nothing went wrong on the Northern Mail When Skimbleshanks was aboard It was very pleasant when they'd found their little den With their name written up on the door And the berth was very neat with a newly folded sheet And not a speck of dust upon the floor There was every sort of light, you could make it dark or bright And a button you could turn to make a breeze And a funny little basin you're supposed to wash your face in And a crank to shut the window should you sneeze Then the guard looked in politely and would ask you very brightly "Do you like your morning tea weak or strong?" But I was right behind him and was ready to remind him For Skimble won't let anything go wrong When they crept into their cosy berth And pulled up the counterpane They all could reflect, that it was very nice To know that they wouldn't be bothered by mice They can leave all that to the railway cat The cat of the railway train Skimbleshanks, the railway cat The cat of the railway train In the watches of the night, I was always fresh and bright Every now and then I'd have a cup of tea

With perhaps a drop of Scotch while I was keepin' on the watch Only stopping here and there to catch a flea They were fast asleep at Crewe and so they never knew That I was walkin' up and down the station They were sleeping all the while I was busy at Carlisle Where I met the station master with elation They might see me at Dumfries if I summoned by police If there was anything they ought to know about When they got to Gallowgate there they did not have to wait For Skimbleshanks would help them to get out And he gives you a wave of his long, brown tail Which says "I'll see you again" You will meet without fail on the Midnight Mail The cat of the railway train You will meet without fail on the Midnight Mail The cat of the railway train
