

Cave In, The Calypso

Coral reefs have their ways of just sinking ships
And all the fish with sharp teeth wait for it
Lifeless bodies live among debris
For all the ugly gulls to see
Wed still be alive if
Devils knew how to fly
All weightless and wed float
But on the ocean theyll choke
Theyll just swallow us up into tiny bits
I swear it looks worse than it really is Strange worlds I thought would never show their face
But now Im feeling we should never leave this place
Wed still be alive if
Devils knew how to fly
All weightless and wed float
But on the ocean theyll choke
Wed still be alive if
Devils knew how to fly
All weightless and wed float
But on the ocean theyll choke
Sure we know how to swim
But sometimes its best to give in
Well hold our breath for now, forever
And hope for the best
