Celldweller, Frozen

Inside this fantasy It seems so real to me Synthetic ecstasy, when her legs are open True Life behind a wall Where men and angels fall A fading memory, when my mind is frozen

I can see a frozen point in time Where her figure still awaits Tongue of fire tracing lips outline Where frozen breath originates

With one motion of her waiting eyes She strips everything away This one moment is intensified And colors all fade to grey

I am in the only place that i want to be Though we know that it ends eventually But it's alright because right now we're frozen

"I want to forget mistakes they've helped me make It's better to be broken than to break"

Inside this fantasy It seems so real to me Synthetic ecstasy, when her legs are open True Life behind a wall Where men and angels fall A fading memory, when my mind is frozen

I can see a frozen point in time That is easy to retrace Light and darkness are both intertwined The elements are in their place with

One motion of her wanting mind The real world begins to fade And all the hateful things I have become Temporarily go away

When my mind's frozen:

I'll take you anwhere you want to go Far from anything that feels like home (lets go) You are anyone I want to be (it's here and now, and now it's only you and me)

It's never enough (mmm that's true)
I want to stay here (yeah, and I do too)
Breakin' it down(takin' it down)
With smell(smell), touch(touch, taste(taste), sight(sight), and sound(sound)

How long will I be here without you near because I'm so cold Break them first or I'll get broken is not what I was told, now I'm so cold I'm so cold So cold Inside this fantasy It seems so real to me Synthetic ecstasy, when her legs are open True Life behind a wall Where men and angels fall A fading memory, when my mind is frozen
