

Charles Whitehead, Between The Lines

[refrain]

Tell me, can you read between the lines
Do you know the eight warning signs
Say your woman
Running 'round on you.

I'm going to say it again
Can you read between the lines
Do you know the eight warning signs
Say your woman
Running 'round on you.

(One)
Do she get bored
From the things that used to excite her

(Two)
When you kiss her,
Do she act like you're trying to bite her

(Three)
She never seem pleased
At nothin' you trying to do

(Four)
When you love her,
She seem glad when you're through

Sometimes it's hard to believe
What your mind refusing to see

[refrain]

Tell me, can you read between the lines
Do you know the eight warning sign
Say your woman
Running 'round on you, lord

Tell me, can you read between the lines
Do you know the eight warning sign
Say your woman
Running 'round on you.

(Five)
Someone keep calling
And they keep hanging up

(Six)
She says she going bowling,
And her girlfriend picks her up

(Tell me about seven)
She comes home
With her clothes all out of place

(What about eight)
Always guilt
Behind that smilin' face

Sometime it's hard to believe
What your mind refusing to see

[refrain]

Tell me, can you read between the lines
Do you know the eight warning sign

Say your woman
Running 'round on you, lord

Tell me, can you read between the lines
Do you know the eight warning sign
Say your woman
Running 'round on you, lord

Tell me, can you read between the lines
Do you know the eight warning sign
Say your woman
Running 'round on you, lord

Tell me, can you read [fades out]
