

Charlie Landsborough, Constantly

Let me tell you no matter darling what be fell you
I would love you constantly
Tranquil stormy what ever future lies be for me
I will love you constantly

This world is changing fast
Nothings made that's meant to last
But I will only change I am sure
In a way that means I love you more

Laughter sorrow all on the road we call tomorrow
I will love you constantly
What ever life may bring you here's a truth your heart can cling to
I will love you constantly

Forever is a thing with a strange uncertain ring
And nothings ever set in stone
But my hearts forever yours and yours alone

Let me tell you no matter darling what be fell you
I would love you constantly
Laughter sorrow all on the road we call tomorrow
I will love you constantly constantly constantly
