

Charlie Louvin, All The Lies Are True

All the things that I denied saying everyone had lied
That I could never ever do these things to you
I confess now that you're gone they were right I did you wrong
And all the lies you've heard about me are true
It was easy at the start to fool your trusting heart
But I didn't think I'd end up losing you
So let my mistakes be known now that you are really gone
And all the lies you've heard about me are true
[steel]
It was easy at the start...
