

Charlie Louvin, Someone's Heartache

There comes someone's heartache she's walking straight to me
Somebody's cried a love has died she's somebody's shattered dream
If she could stop at my table will I be the next to cry
Would I be smart to hide my heart and let her walk on by

[ac.guitar - piano]

I see the trace of teardrops and she wears a haughty smile
She's hungry for a new love but for just a little while
But I can't hide my feelings my loneliness she sees
Here comes someone's heartache she's walking straight to me
She's walking straight to me