Charlie Peacock, The Only Light We Need

You're the only light we need By Your light we see All eternity The glory and the majesty

Of the new Jerusalem Where no sun will be For Your presence, Your glory Is all the light that heaven needs

You're the only light we need By Your light we see All eternity The glory and the majesty

We're a people bought by blood Brought together by the Son From death of life, we all believe You're the only light we need You're the only light we need
