It's Almost Like You're Here
At night the wind blows in the rain
Against the window pane
I hear you call my name
Your voice whispers in my ear
The words are still so dear
It's almost like you're here

I can almost feel your breathing
I can almost touch your face
You didn't know that you'd be leaving
Memories time cannot erase

At night with feelings running deep As I fall asleep It's almost like you're here

In silence as I sit and stare
I see you sitting there
Brushing down your hair
And even through a blur of tears
The vision is so clear
It's almost like you're here

I can almost feel your breathing
I can almost touch your face
You didn't know that you'd be leaving
Memories time cannot erase

At night the wind blows in the rain Against the window pane It's almost like you're here It's almost like you're here
