Chick Corea, What Game Shall We Play Today

Look around you my people If you look then you will see How to love, life is paradise all together What game shall we play today? Man just wants to be happy Cast off things that shouldn't be Set him free, life is paradise all together What game shall we play today? There's a way you can find it It's within you, can't you see Find the truth, it's not impossible all together What game shall we play today? Here we are all together Free to have and do and be What we see, for the first time all together What game shall we play today?
