

China Crisis, Saint Saviour Square

China Crisis
Diary Of A Hollow Horse
Saint Saviour Square
No sense of pride
No time to care
No problem solved
And no lesson learned
Saint saviour square
And no one i know should live there
And no one i know dare not care
No danger of work
No work to be found
No real incentive
To pull this place down

Saint saviour square
And no one i know should live there
And no one i know dare not care
Should live there and no one i know
Dare not care and no one i know
And no one i know

Idle gaze of us all
We are so far removed
This distance created
Is one we all use

Saint saviour square
And no one i know should live there
And no one i know dare not care
Should live there and no one i know
Dare not care should live there
And no one i know dare not

The world knows no shame
As we all walk away
No hope is inspired
No progress is made

Saint saviour square
And no one i know should live there
And no one i know dare not care
Should live there and no one i know
Dare not care and no one
And no one i know