

Chris And Conrad, Love Revolution

It feels as cold as winter time
In my heart and in my mind
It leaves me aching for the light
I feel so numb and paralyzed
Lord, won't you break my heart for what breaks yours?
Fan the flames inside this brittle shell
I wanna be a love revolution
I wanna be a part of the solution
I wanna be a love revolution
So take me now to the heart of the movement
All of us are standing on the edge of the love revolution
Come and let your mercy flow
Through our hearts and through our souls
And can we be your hands and feet
To carry healing, light, and peace
You've called me to wear the glory of your name
So help me, I wanna wear it well
I wanna be a love revolution
I wanna be a part of the solution
I wanna be a love revolution
So take me now to the heart of the movement
All of us are standing on the edge of the love revolution
So let your light shine
In my life
I'm ready to sing
Take my heart now
Take it all
I give it away
Make your light shine
In my life
I'm ready to sing
I wanna be a love revolution
I wanna be a part of the solution
I wanna be a love revolution
So take me now to the heart of the movement
All of us are standing on the edge
All of us are standing on the edge
Of the love revolution
