

Chris Rice, Spare an Angel

Found her starin' at the rain
And askin' "Why it has to hurt so bad?"
Where's the limit to the pain her heart can take
Before it breaks in half
I wanted to be strong enough to hold her
And show her the way
But she's so far out of reach
And now all I can do is pray
Can you spare an Angel tonight send a little help from your side?
'Cause somebody's lost down here, let him wing his way through the dark
Carry some of your love into her heart
Can you spare an Angel, spare an Angel, spare an Angel?
She wonders further in the dark feels the cold and hears the thunder cry
While the rain keeps pouring down her only answer from the lonely sky
She has no idea how much you love her
Or how much you care, "So would you choose one of your best
To be the answer to my prayer?"
Can you spare an Angel tonight send a little help from your side?
'Cause somebody's lost down here, let him wing his way through the dark
Carry some of your love into her heart
Can you spare an Angel, spare an Angel, spare an Angel?
Oh, I don't know
What else to pray this time
Maybe an Angel
Can lead her lonesome heart away to Jesus side
Can you spare an Angel tonight send a little help from your side?
'Cause somebody's lost down here let him wing his way through the dark
Carry some of your love into her heart
Can you spare an Angel, spare an Angel, spare an Angel?
