

Christian Ingebrigtsen, Things Are Gonna Change

Do you remember how it used to be?
Endless summers when we, felt so free
Whatever happened to the days when we were strong,
Seems so long ago.
Something's different, and I don't know why.
Just came at us from a clear blue sky
Can't seem to fix it no matter how hard I try

But I keep trying coz

I can feel it all around me
Now's the time for what was meant to be
Nothing stays the same
Things are gonna change
Better days will come and find us
Just believe that we can bring it back
We can love again
Things are gonna change

We pray for morning through a long dark night
These are signs of a promised life
Coz nothing lasts forever, even bad times end
And that's why I keep trying coz

I can feel it all around me
Now's the time for what was meant to be
Nothing stays the same
Things are gonna change
Better days will come and find us
Just believe that we can bring it back
That we can love again
Things are gonna change

oooooooooooooooooh

Everybody needs to hold on to
A dream that they hope that one day might come true
There's still a light for us
If you believe it too and I'm telling you that...

I can feel it all around me
Now's the time for what was meant to be (what was meant to be)
And nothing stays the same
Things are gonna change (I can feel it)
Better days will come and find us (come and find us)
Just believe that we can bring it back (oooooooooh yeah)
That we can love again
Things are gonna change
We can love again things are gonna change
