Christina Grimmie, King Of Thieves

Coming home, the lock's broken and the doors wide open It's all gone It's all gone now

I look around, just white walls Listen now to echos It's all gone It's all gone now

Ever since you broke into me Ever since you left with the key I can't open up for anyone Anymore

You took the sun, the moon, and the stars Now I'm walking all alone in the dark You stole my heart You stole my heart Give it back to me

All the love that we made here is gone I'm living in an empty house of cards You stole my heart You stole my heart Give it back to me

King of Thieves King of Thieves You're the King of Thieves (The King of The King of)

Inside I'm hollow 'Cause you carved my heart out It's all gone It's all gone now

'Cause you dealt a cold hand And I'm stripped to nothing Take it all Take it all, yeah

'Cause ever since you broke into me Ever since you left with the key I can't open up for anyone Anymore

You took the sun, the moon, and the stars Now I'm walking all alone in the dark You stole my heart You stole my heart Give it back to me

All the love that we made here is gone I'm living in an empty house of cards You stole my heart You stole my heart Give it back to me

King of Thieves King of Thieves You're the King of Thieves (The King of The King of)

I'll play the victim 'Cause you planned it out Like cops and robbers Just surrender now

You took the sun, the moon, and the stars Now I'm walking all alone in the dark You stole my heart You stole my heart Give it back to me

All the love that we made here is gone I'm living in an empty house of cards You stole my heart You stole my heart Give it back to me

King of Thieves King of Thieves You're the King of Thieves (The King of The King of)