

Chuck Wicks, If We Loved

The prisons are empty
The homeless have houses
Nobodys hungry
Nobodys poor
Nobodys judged by their faith or their color
Nobodys wrong in this world without war
We buried our swords
We dont fight anymore
You cant imagine all the mountains wed move if we loved
If we loved a little harder
Yea, theres no telling all the walls wed break through
If we loved
If we loved a little harder
Nobodys lonely, used, or neglected
Children are cherished from the day that theyre born
Even a strangers never a stranger
No bars on the windows
No locks on our doors
Cuz we open our doors
Not afraid anymore
You cant imagine all the mountains wed move if we loved
If we loved a little harder
Yea, theres no telling all the walls wed break through
If we loved
If we loved a little harder
Just think of how much better off wed be
If we open up our hearts
If we believe
You cant imagine all the mountains wed move if we loved
If we loved a little harder
Yea, theres no telling all the walls wed break through
If we loved
If we loved a little harder
Ohhhhh
If we loved
If we loved
If we loved a little harder
