CHVRCHES, Recover

Caught eye, call, hiding for you, the skin so old. I'll come clean Everyone, everyone knows it's me.

And if I recover, will you be my comfort? or it can be over, or we can just leave it here, so you can remember, choose any colour, I've got the answer, open it and follow

I'll give you one, one chance say you can change our heart where can you take what you need and you don't need me.
I'll give you one one chance say you can change our own where you can take what you need and you know you don't need me.

Glow by blow, honest in every way I know you appear to face the decision I know you fear

And if I recover, will you be my comfort? or it can be over, or we can just leave it here, so you can remember, choose any colour, I've got the answer, open it and follow

I'll give you one, one chance say you can change our heart where can you take what you need and you don't need me. I'll give you one one chance say you can change our own where you can take what you need and you know you don't need me.

But you know you don't need me,

And if I recover, will you be my comfort? or it can be over, or we can just leave it here, so you can remember, choose any colour, I've got the answer, open it and follow

I'll give you one, one chance say you can change our heart where can you take what you need and you don't need me.
I'll give you one one chance say you can change our own where you can take what you need and you know you don't need me.
