

Circulatory System, Waves Of Bark And Light

did we never say hi?
we never say hi or say goodbye but here we go into the sun to ride the waves of bark and light when we've made it up to the sun unpack your things, you'll see why we've come you need your frequencies of intuition the now dead eternal clock has ceased its ticking i read between the lines and saw the faces we saw the difference in every corner we now know, everything is just beyond us, above us, below us, etc.