

Citizen Fish, Circular Vision

Please don't let me see/so many problems and disharmony/without knowing the reason/without knowing the facts/and knowing that knowing can be hard to desire/when the opposite says "relax"/please don't let me see/so much peace and harmony/that I forget to use my eyes/be aware of any shadows behind the light/circular vision and the need to know/one says let's go everywhere the other one sets the sights/please don't let me view/through so many windows I can't see through/every depth has a surface tension/spreading the ripples in all directions/making waves can be saying goodbye/but it's also saying here's the reason why/please don't let me see what I've seen before/without noticing the range of change/please don't let me see without looking/for nothing will ever be strange/please don't let me see the viewpoint/without knowing what the background is/please don't let me see the framework/til I've seen if the picture fits/we woke up didn't feel like sleeping/we spoke up didn't feel like keeping/the silence that hold us apart so much/as we struggle to find the human touch/and a natural urge of discovery/checking out what we weren't allowed to see/looking around the reality factory