Translation

I went into a tavern, and the barkeep,

doesn't much care for the look of me.

I look like I've got no money on me.

She tells me to hit the road.

I put my hand into my pocket,

I asked if she could break a shilling.

She said to me "Sit down at the table,

you'll be drinking here 'till morning.&#quot;

She roused the man of the house,
tells him to get up, put his trousers and hat on,
and go out and find a musician to entertain me,
so I'll stay here drinking until morning.

Was I the man without sense to leave my money when I'd been scorned?

I left woefully,

I left a sign to other people.
