

Claude Kelly, More Than I Can Take

standing at the edge of breaking up i hope its not too late for speaking up coz now i know that watching you walk away is way too rough for me, baby so please dont leave coz ur not here with me its more than i can take your like the air i breathe without you my life just breaks at first i thought i was invincible acting like my heart couldnt break but i cant let you leave coz its more than i can take i said its more than i can take tell me how we came to this what was it that destroyed our happiness where did it go how did our love turn into such a mess well im down to do anything to keep you by my side coz girl i need you in my life
coz ur not here with me
its more than i can take
your like the air i breathe
without you id just fade away
at first i thought i was invincible
acting like my heart couldnt break
but i cant let you leave
coz its more than i can take i thought that i wouldnt miss you at all i thought that i could break up and move on i thought that id be fine with you gone but its more than i can take
coz ur not here with me
its more than i can take
your like the air i breathe
without you id just fade away
at first i thought i was invincible
acting like my heart couldnt break i cant let you leave
coz its more than i can take
its more than i can take
its more than i can take