

Claude King, Great Big Tears

I have thought I was a big big man much too big to cry
Then I fell in love with you thought you loved me too then you said goodbye
I can't forget the day that you walked away from your love I'll never be free
You're making great big tears out of little bitty tears where no tears used to be
One little tear two little tears that's the way it started
Three big tears four big tears they kept getting larger
Now there's so many tears in my eyes that I can hardly see
You're making great big tears out of little bitty tears where no tears used to be [ ac.guitar ]
I wish I could count my tears but I can't count that high
There just seems to be no limit to all the tears I cry
I only hope someday the tears will wash away all the hurt inside of me
You're making great big tears out of little bitty tears where no tears used to be
