

Clay Walker, Cowboy's Toughest Ride

(clay walker/kim williams/randy boudreaux)

See that cowboy at the bar
The one at the end with all the scars
He got stomped by the meanest bronc in santa fe
But if he looks a little down and out
It aint that bronc hes thinking about
Its that girl that broke his heart along the way

When a cowboy falls he falls hard
Sometimes he falls way too far
But you can bet that when he hits the ground
Hell get back up and play the part
Even with a broken heart
Hell hold the reins and hide the pain inside
Loves always a cowboys toughest ride

Girl, just listen to me now
I should know what im talking about
Everything I learned I learned from you
I have rode broncs from hell
And it hurt me every time I fell
But not half as much pain as you put me through

When a cowboy falls he falls hard
Sometimes he falls way too far
But you can bet that when he hits the ground
Hell get back up and play the part
Even with a broken heart
Hell hold the reins and hide the pain inside
Loves always a cowboys toughest ride
