

Cliff Richard, All That Matters

(chorus)

The love in you and the love in me
Is all that matters
All the rest is just vanity that time will shatter
The only treasure in the life we live
Is on the measure of the love we give
All that matters in the end will be
The love in you and the love in me
It's all that matters
Every heart must change its shape
To fit the space that a lifetime makes
Some regrets and some mistakes
We touch happiness but we can't hold her
Feelings come and disappear
I've known the laughter I've cried those tears
I should know better after all these years
But I'm no wiser I'm just older

(chorus)

Love is the treasure
It's all a question of priority
We've got some much that we just don't need
If it ain't got love then it's a luxury
We can learn to live without it
The love in you and the love in me
Is all that matters
All the rest is just vanity that time will shatter
It's all that matters
It's all that matters
Oh....

The love in you and the love in me
It's all that matters
All the rest is vanity that time will shatter
The love in you and the love in me
Is all that matters.....
