Cliff Richard, Choosing

I've tried to ignore All the stench of your life Only holding back For my wife Even she has seen Your poisoned soul displayed Seen each move you've made Contaminate, degrade

Who's this juvenile? Who's this infantile clown? He's not ever worth Knocking down Stamp your tiny foot My precious little lamb Bleat ad nauseam But I don't give a damn

Where to go? heart ever hounded Coward? no - spirit confounded

Always hoping belief will bring release God alone can give me peace Watching me scream and hate Only choosing when it's too late

May this imbecile Cause your heart to feel joy You did after all Choose the toy Do you now suppose I'll leave with no reply? Basic laws apply An eye demands an eye

Where to go? heart ever hounded Coward? no - spirit confounded Always hoping belief will bring release God alone can give peace Watching me scream and hate Only choosing when it's too late
