

Cliff Richard, While She's Young

From here to eternity where time cannot reach
What is the lesson that life has to teach
Don't try to find it for the answer will come
In the message of love on the wings on the sun

A heart that is searching will find a new place
The wind is warm on the innocent face
A fledgling of love who has only just begun
To waken from dreams while she is still young

While she's young her heart is free

You gotta treat her tenderly
While she's young she's looking for someone who cares

Trust and understanding while she is still young
This fledgling of love has only just begun
Now to understand the questions of her mind
Cos now she is searching for someone who is kind

While she's young her heart is free
You gotta treat her tenderly
While she's young she's looking for someone who cares